

Join our research!

Stanford University

Reading & Dyslexia Research Program
Literacy Research @ Stanford

Have a struggling young reader?
Personalized summer reading instruction provided at no cost for 3rd-5th graders who qualify for research study!

Sign up at dyslexia.stanford.edu

Help us understand the factors that contribute to differences in how children learn to read!

Who are we? A collaboration between the Stanford Graduate School of Education and the Division of Developmental-Behavioral Pediatrics in the Stanford School of Medicine. Our goal is to design innovative, personalized education to serve a diverse group of learners.

We have a range of studies for children and adults of all reading levels. Sign up for our research pool to be considered! Participants will be paid for their time.

Questions?

Email the research team at readingresearch@stanford.edu or sign up for our research pool at dyslexia.stanford.edu

Participant's rights questions, contact 1-866-680-2906

